

Abstract

The present invention relates to a method and system for receiving, storing, compiling and reporting usage information for equipment such as leased vehicles, automobiles, construction equipment. The method may include the use of a server, a communication pathway, a user interface device, and a database.

099451.11501
FOOT. 151.660